HIDDEN TREASURE: Quarter of a million dollars is the value of the set of miniature paintings being held by Boone McClure, director of Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. McClure stands beside a large Swiss music box which plays beautifully still. Both museum possessions are kept in one of the storage places used for thousands of articles for which there is no display room.

Museum Treasure Buried

Need More Space

New Addition Must Await Fund Raising

BY LINDA LOVE

Sliding back a door where there seemed at first to be only wall, Boone McClure, director of Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, stepped back, revealing a $18,500 statue.

Given to the museum by its creator, Dr. Waldine Tauch, the art work is crowded into a small, hidden storage. There is no room to show it publicly.

Nearby, in a larger room, a small cabinet held 50 Hindu prayer rugs, while the adjoining wall was lined with more than 1300 paintings. A Swiss music box the size of an organ or small piano played a waltz in rich tones.

McClure opened drawers of a bureau to show rows of old-fashioned cameo-like portraits, exquisite in color and detail. Beneath shelves lay five or six murals, each approximately 12 feet in length.

Other pieces of furniture supported a pair of bronzes worth $3500 and a plaque, also valued at $3500. An ornate cabinet guarded many small objects of ivory; a carefully figured Chinese sewing box revealed more artwork inside; heavy figures and vases of oriental design stood at one end of the room.

"This is one of our largest storerooms," said McClure. "Most places now we can't even store things sensibly so that we can walk in." At the thought of walking, he gestured to a plain oblong box, saying, "There are 165 walking canes in here.

"One floor of the new addition will probably be devoted to fine arts," he explained, "and that will take some pressure off this storage and let the public see what we really have back here."

The treasure hunt continued. Upstairs and down, in and out of closets, behind exhibits and inside them--the trail led all over the three-story museum. Inside the frontier bank were more than 600 different kinds of barbed wire. Behind a door marked "Maintenance," newspapers were stacked in packages. What was the men's room was also being used for storage, as were the coat and hat racks.

McClure stepped behind a large statue and opened another door. This time there appeared a room with high ceiling, complete with skylight. Publications, museum records and various objects extended literally from floor to ceiling.

On the highest shelf stood a harnessed stuffed dog, one of the sled dogs involved in the rescue of Admiral Byrd at the

Iris Sale Scheduled

Iris Sale will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 6p.m. Friday by the Canyon Garden Club, announced Mrs. Bill Downing.

The sale will take place under the grape arbor of the Joe Frank home. Iris rizomes of both named and unnamed varieties will be offered for sale.

Part of the profit will probably be given to the Amarillo Speech and Hearing Center for use in landscaping, said Mrs. Downing.

Jessie Booth, city hall clerk, is shown here wrestling with an accounts index as equipment was moved Tuesday into the newly remodeled city hall. City employes moved in just as carpenters were finishing the job.

Arrow Lodge Taps Scouts

Three boy scouts and one scouter camper of Canyon Troop 31 were tapped-out as candidates for the Order of the Arrow Lodge Friday night at a camp fire at Camp Don Harrington.

The candidates were Scout Ronny Hager, Scout Roger Gist, Scout Ricky Warren and Scouter Camper B.B. Warren.

Order of the Arrow is a campers honor brotherhood chartered by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America. One of its purposes is to recognize those campers who best exemplify the Scout Oath and Law in their daily lives and, by such recognition, cause other campers to conduct themselves in such a manner as to warrant similar recognition.

Other principal purposes are to promote Scout camping and to develop and maintain its traditions and spirit; and finally, to crystallize the Scout habit of helpfulness into a life purpose of leadership in cheerful service to others.

Judge Is Tie-Breaker On New Library Ballot

Judge Lloyd King cast the tie-breaking vote Monday as commissioners court turned thumbs down on participation in construction of a county library building.

In casting his vote, Judge King suggested formation of a library district which could vote bonds, levy taxes and build and operate a library.

Commissioner Glenn Dowlen made a motion that the county participate in construction of a new library building at an approximate total cost of $50,000.

The motion was seconded by Commissioner Clarence Beckman. Commissioners B. R. Jones and Bill Butler voted against the measure creating the deadlock.

"I think these people here at Canyon ought to have a library if they want it," declared Judge King, "But this motion is county-wide.

"People in Amarillo already pay taxes for a library (Amarillo city library). That would be double taxation.

"I'm going to cast my vote against the motion because I think the way to handle this is through a library district."

Prior to the motion, Beckman suggested that an annex to the court house be built and then used as a library until needed for county business.

"That was a nice trap, Clarence," retorted Commissioner Jones in good humor, "But I'm not falling for it. If we put a library in a court house annex, then when we need the annex and have to move the library out, we'd be forced to build a library building."

Jones added that he is for building an annex as soon as feasible.

At this point County Clerk Tommy Lair noted that more space already is needed by his office. He said his vaults are full of records and valuable county documents.

"We can't dispose of any of them," the clerk declared.

Commissioner Butler pointed out that operation of an adequate library will cost about $20,000 a year.

"It's going to cost more to run this new library," Dowlen

FBI School In Canyon

An FBI training school for police officers is being held here this week for Canyon and area officers.

Conducting the school is L.L. "Robbie" Robertson, FBI agent from Dallas.

Robertson said police will receive instructions in mob and riot control, firearms and techniques and mechanics of arrest.

The school will end Friday.

Building Boom On At Theater

Waving his hands, long "bib" flapping in the breeze, a lather-whiskered frontiersman charges from a pioneer store as the advance wagon in a wagon train rattles into town.

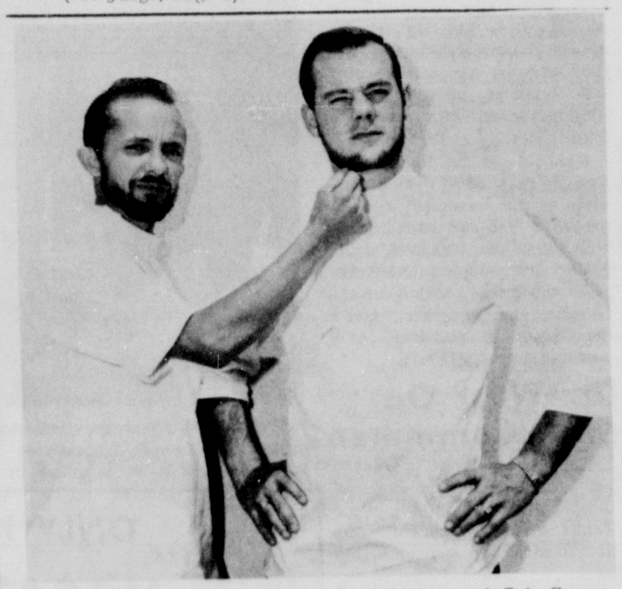

This scene, part of the "Thundering Sounds of the West" show produced at 8:15 nightly in Palo Duro Canyon amphitheatre, has proven so popular with the audience that it has sparked a building boom.

Now in use on the canyon stage is a brand-new barbershop. Actually, the old-fashioned shop is new only to the western set. Old lumber was given by Gene Morrison to the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, according to Foundation public relations director Edith Eckhardt. In the form of an old building on his property, the boards were torn down by the theatre crew and hauled away.

A frontier church is now being planned by cast members, who hope to build it as soon as materials may be found. The concessions stand will also receive its share of pioneer-style urban renewal when it is given a new, old front. The front will simulate an early day store--perhaps an old-time general store.

"It works out fine for everyone involved in the exchange," explained Mrs. Eckhardt. "If anyone has an old building or other structure that they've been wanting to get rid of, the boys will tear it down and cart it away in exchange for the lumber.

"We are hoping other citizens will call us if they would like to take advantage of this same arrangement," added Mrs. Eckhardt.

Driver Saves Gruver Child

A Greyhound bus driver who makes a habit of lifesaving was credited with keeping little Regina Finney, 7 years old, Gruver, alive Sunday.

H.T. Stewart, Lubbock, saw the car in which Regina was riding with her family overturn about 6 miles south of Canyon Sunday afternoon. He brought his loaded bus to a stop and whipped out his first aid kit.

Little Regina was bleeding profusely from a severe gash on the arm. Highway patrolmen said Stewart used a set of tweezers to close an artery until he could apply a tournequet.

Patrolman James Cadenhead credited Stewart with saving the tot's life. "She already had lost a pint of blood," Cadenhead declared.

The child was rushed to Neblett Hospital in a LaGrone ambulance. She was dismissed Monday.

Cadenhead said this makes three times Stewart has saved a life on the highway by speedily administering first aid.

Many Canyon football fans will remember Stewart as the man who usually drives a charter bus from Canyon to Lubbock for Buffalo-Red Raider football games.

The car in which Regina was riding was driven by her mother, Mrs. Lanelle Finney, 24, Gruver. In the car, other than Regina and her mother, were

4-H Dignitaries Arriving Today

Randall County 4-H Council members and adult leaders will entertain an eleven-member group of outstanding club members and state and national leaders Thursday afternoon.

A tour of Palo Duro State Park and a chicken barbeque in the canyon has been planned.

The national delegation will be composed of club members of four states plus national and state leaders from Chicago, Washington and College Station. They will be in this area to make a 4-H Club report to the nation.

A motorcade from Randall County will meet the group in Amarillo at 2:30 Thursday and take them to the state park. The motorcade will be headed by Sally Pulley, home demonstration agent, and a leaders group.

The visitors will be shown park facilities and will be welcomed by the Randall County 4-H Club Council group at Cottonwood Grove at 3:30.

Council officers are Judy Sykes, president; Sharon Allen, vice-president; Ray Stovall, secretary-treasurer; and Connie Brazzil, reporter. Assisting will be Mrs. Louis Tucek and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, adult leaders. The welcoming committee will be headed by Mrs. R. B. Gist.

One of the club members in the visiting group will be Patty Porter of Terrell, Texas. It was on the Porter farm, then owned by Patty's grandfather, in Kaufman County in 1903 that the first insect control demonstration was made. This demonstration gave birth to the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A&M University.

Registration Begins At WT

Registration for second session of summer school began Tuesday at West Texas State University with 1387 students registering the first day.

President James P. Cornette estimated the final number of students would be approximately 1450, which would be 18 or 19 per cent higher than last year's record-breaking second term of 1243.

Classes began Wednesday and will end August 27. Registration continues until Saturday noon.

Miss Clark Ski Champ

Charolette Clark, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Clark, was awarded first place trophy in the over-all girls' division Sunday at the climax of the annual Rickshaw Tournament at Buffalo Lake.

Miss Clark received trophies also as first place in ski jump, second in tricks and third in slalom. She was the only winner from Canyon.

Of the five states in the region served by the tournament, Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas were represented. Louisiana was the state not participating, said Clark. There were 68 entries in tournament competition.

Drain Facilities Gets City Okay

Canyon city commission Monday night voted to install a drainage easement from the intersection of Hillcrest and 12th Street south to Creekmere Drive in Hidden Valley.

Installation of the improvement calls for rebuilding the intersection with an inverted crown to channel water south to a 31-foot drainage easement.

The Creekmere intersection also will be reshaped.

Developer Aubrey Crossland will participate in cost and provide the easement. City Manager Dewey Bryant said cost to the city will be about $2,100 and cost to Crossland will be about $1,350.

Commissioners paid bills on improvements coming to nearly $40,000.

Approved for payment was a bill for $19,310.80 to Foran Construction Company for installation of 8-inch water main, $10,876 to Louie Squier of Hereford for installation of storm sewer improvements and $5,096.30 for the Fire Department's new Plectron warning system.

Also approved for final payment was a bill from John Spikes Equipment Company in the amount of $5,502.56 for a tractor with front end loader and back hoe.

Commissioners approved a petition by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Costley for closing of 24th Street between Block 97 and

Firemen To A&M

Fire Captain Joe Rice and Fireman R.L. Glanton leave Saturday for the annual Firemen's Training School at Texas A&M College.

The summer training course is scheduled for July 25 through July 30. During this time Rice will attend an instructor's course, while Glanton studies basic firefighting.

Art Haley will work as part-time assistant to take charge of Canyon Fire Department in their absence.

Miss Cranmer Wins Ribbon

Leta Cranmer, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.L. Cranmer, received a blue ribbon in the district 4-H dress revue in Amarillo Tuesday.

Miss Cranmer qualified for the blue ribbon by making a high score on her contest entry.

Connie Brazzil, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brazzil, joined other junior division county winners in modeling out of competition.

Both girls are members of Westside 4-H Club and were winners in senior and junior divisions, respectively, of the Randall County dress revue held the previous Tuesday.

Entertainment for the district event was provided by the men's quartet from Pioneer Theatre production "Thundering Sounds of the West."

Champions To Compete In Tourney

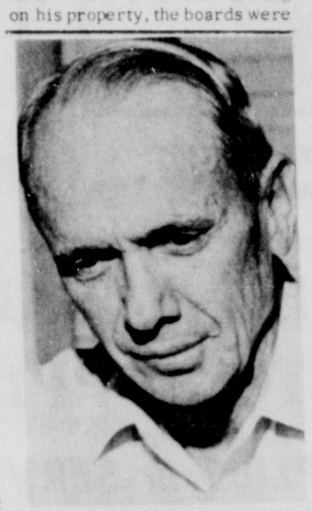

Tournament of Champions, featuring expert contestants chosen by invitation only, will be held by Randall County Sheriff's Posse during the annual Old Settler's Celebration August 6 and 7, according to R.B. Allen, posse president.

A fast moving spectator event which offers a variety of thrills, the Cowboy Sports Contests will feature only the top four contestants in each of six divisions.

Each contestant will be trying to win the chance to represent his club in the national finals in Altus, Oklahoma, to be held in October.

Rodeo Arena will be the scene of these horseback contests, which include ring spearing, barrel race, pole bending, rib-

J. EVETTS HALEY

New Haley Book Out

"Earl Vandale on the Trail of Texas Books" is the title of a new book by J. Evetts Haley.

The biographical sketch of book collector Vandale is a recent release by Palo Duro Press of Canyon. It contains 44 pages and various inserts which show facsimiles of books mentioned.

Vandale has been termed a "natural-born trader" and used this skill to acquire many rare books on history of Texas and the American West. The Vandale collection may be seen in the University of Texas library.

Haley's book, published in limited edition, includes anecdotes about Vandale's tactics in outsmarting rival collectors. It is, in short, a "book collector's book on a collector." It is priced at $6 per copy.

Trustees Approve Budget

Canyon board of trustees Tuesday night approved a tentative budget of $1,179,837 for the 1965-66 school year.

Budget hearing was set for 8 o'clock the night of August 17 at the high school building in the board room.

The tentative budget is an increase of about $179,000 over the current budget. Budget for the 1964-65 term was $1,004,822.

School Superintendent Huelyn Laycock said some $61,000 of the increase represents teacher pay raises. The system had 105 teachers during the past school year while a faculty of 122 is comtemplated for the coming school year. Laycock said the increase in number

COVERING FUMBLES
by
Dean Mitch Jones

He is miserable because he has won so many logical arguments and lost so many illogical friends. Without our illogical friends this world becomes an intolerable, lonely, and dreary place!

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

This column has long been suggesting a library district to foot the bill if it is decided that Canyon needs a new library.

Personally, I do think Canyon needs a library and surely the area to be served by it is capable of building one.

Let's not forget for a minute that there is more to it than just building a building, no matter how elaborate.

It's going to cost about $20,000 a year to run a library. Operation of a library is a science. Books must be properly catalogued and shelved.

Library personnel must be on their toes. Courtesy and helpfulness is just as important here as it is in the retail field. Library patrons must be considered as customers and should be encouraged to use the library if it is to be successful because the electorate will be called upon to provide funds for operating it.

Yes, I'm for a library building if we can see our way clear to furnish it, fill it with books and staff it.

Why don't Canyon civic clubs go together and build a club room facility here? I believe the combined efforts of Canyon clubs, men and women, could accomplish this.

I think financing of such an improvement could and should be done by the people who use it.

Dewey Bryant, the city manager, probably has the toughest job in Canyon. I do not envy him. If a city manager does not stick by his guns, he really isn't doing his job. His town, if it's on the grow, will grow up topsy turvy. He will get cussed anyway and his future is about nil' because no larger city will want him if he hasn't been able to handle a smaller town.

It's pretty thankless. Bill York, Dewey's predecessor, did some things we all cussed him for at the time but which turned out to be beneficial to Canyon in the long run. I doubt that Bill has received a single letter of appreciation from any of us.

Ray Reynolds is Canyon's artist cop. Ray likes to draw animals, especially horses. He is one of the kindest officers I've ever met and both animals and people like him.

Ray handles gently even the mongrels he takes off to the pound when he's moonlighting in his capacity as the city's animal control officer--a new term for dog catcher.

Ray hates writing a ticket worse than he hates poison. Ray is the kind of a fellow a community takes to it's heart as someone special.

While crime and violence shakes Amarillo, Canyon seems to go its placid way with little on the nefarious side taking place.

Even the thugs bent on mischief usually try to take their evil enterprise north of the Randall County line.

I think this may be caused by two factors. Our law enforcement officers are alert and relentless. Slim Johnson never closes a case, as far as I know.

In the second place, Randall County juries and grand juries look with a jaundiced eye upon those who break the law.

In Randall County, conviction is a little more certain, penalties a little stiffer. Most Randall County folks like it that way.

"Surely Texas has one of the worst state constitutions in the US," County Judge Lloyd King declared this week as he announced the second constitutional amendment election to fall within a two-month span this fall.

The first election will be held in September when voters will decide on a single amendment. Decision will be made on 10 more in November.

I agree with Judge King. Texas badly needs a constitutional convention to re-write the state constitution. Surely Texas could have a constitution under the framework of which the state could be governed.

At present, if a single county wants to form--say a hospital district--the entire state electorate must vote on a constitutional amendment to permit it. Because of this, it would take a speed reader a month just to read our much patched constitution.

Besides that, holding one to two special amendment elections a year is expensive.

Have you noticed that water melons we're getting this year are better than usual?

Grocermen say abundant rain on watermelon land made the vines produce in profusion. The melons are smaller but sweeter.

Rev. Wylie To Deliver Talk Sunday

Rev. Clarence Wylie will deliver the sermon at the Canyon First Presbyterian Church Sunday, July 25.

Title of the 11 a.m. sermon will be "The Riches of God."

Rev. Wylie was ordained by the Presbytery of Houston in September, 1918. He came to Canyon in June of 1937 as Sunday School Missionary, and lived here until January of 1945.

Wylie then became pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Dalhart until 1956, when he moved to Slaton to head the First Presbyterian Church. He retired in 1960.

He was instrumental in organizing the First Presbyterian Church in Dumas, and also the First Presbyterian Church of Spearman.

He presently lives in Lubbock.

Swim Lessons Begun Again

Second session of Red Cross swimming courses began Tuesday, following Monday registration, announced Davis Price, instructor.

Fifty-five beginners were registered for the new session, along with 20 intermediate swimmers, 12 students in junior lifesaving and 9 in senior lifesaving.

Lessons are held twice weekly for five weeks, while lifesaving classes are conducted at varying times for a total of 17 hours.

In the first session, just completed, Price reported 73 beginning swimmers, 25 intermediates, six advanced students and two participating in junior lifesaving.

Thanks To Umps

A hearty thanks went out this week to volunteer umpires who helped call Babe Ruth League baseball games.

George Stevens, in charge of getting the umps, asked The Canyon News to express thanks to all the men who helped this summer.

Two Plead Not Guilty

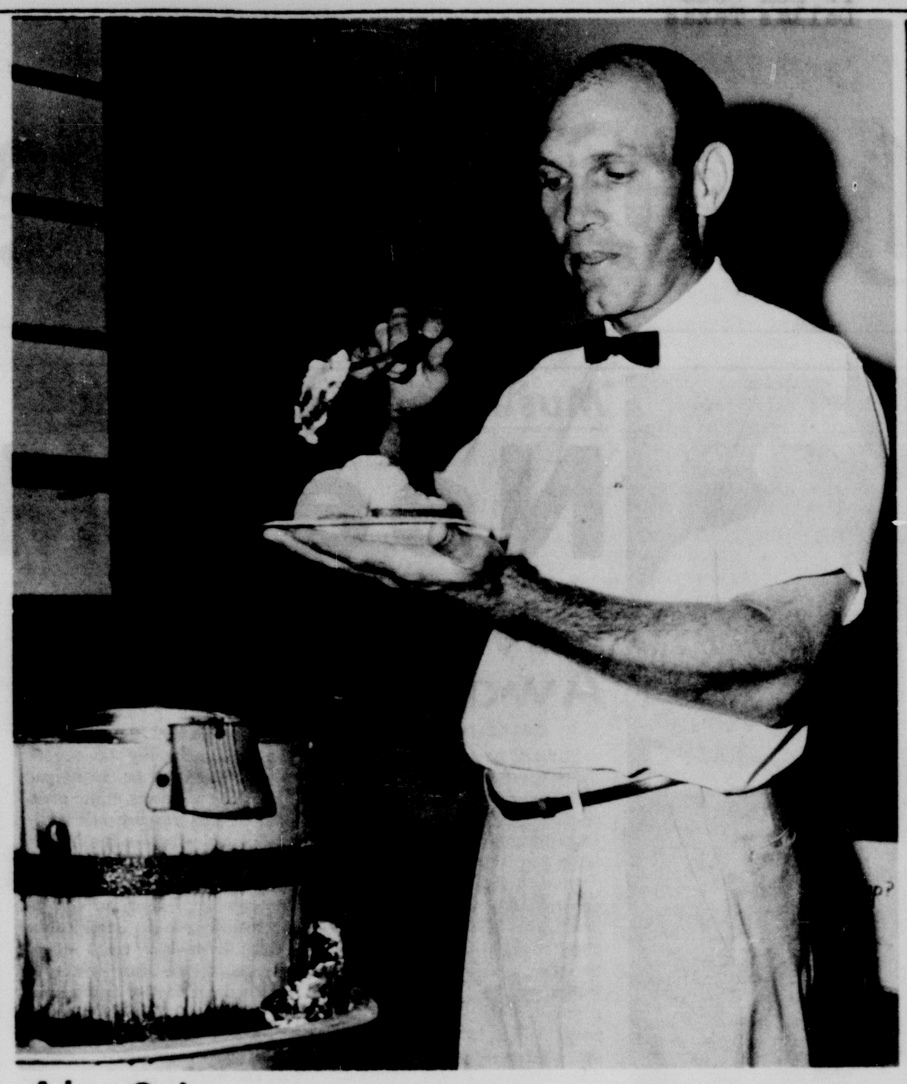

Two persons were arraigned in county court Monday before Judge Lloyd King. Both were charged with driving while intoxicated.

Edward Belton Calton, 28 years old, Amarillo, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge. His bond was set at $500.

Mattie Armes Ledford, 27, Amarillo, also entered a plea of not guilty. Her bond was set at a like figure.

Bill Long, son of Mrs. Clara B. Long, is counseling at a YMCA camp in Granby, Colorado, from July 17 to August 27. Long is in charge of all counselors and may serve as instructor of tennis as well.

Mrs. Clara Thompson and Sarah of Tucson, Arizona, are spending a month at their home in Canyon.

Ah, Science

DR. BURL BRIM pauses during a hard day in the classroom to pass judgement on one of the "live" exhibits inspired by his Elementary Science Workshop. Homemade ice cream was involved in a last-day experiment enjoyed by 50 elementary science teachers attending the West Texas State University course. Various projects produced during the course were displayed Thursday and Friday in the Green Room of the WT west cafeteria.

Proponents of a new library building submitted plans for a building estimated cost of construction of which would be about $50,000. There had been a suggestion that the county participate in the amount of $15,000. Proponents expressed hope that the city would participate in a like amount and that the remainder would be raised by popular subscription.

The plans, drawn by Cliff Abbott, call for a meeting room and kitchen facilities.

Bob Brown, manager of the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, told commissioners the county can expect more money from the refuge annually but the court must produce proof that there is no racial discrimination in programs for which the money is spent.

Money received by the county from the refuge is spent on schools and roads.

Last year the county received almost $800 and this year will receive a little more. Under new legislation, Randall County will receive approximately $3,000 next year.

Commissioners assured Brown that no discrimination is practiced in programs on which the money is spent. The court authorized Judge King to sign documents attesting non-discrimination.

The county accepted a mile of road in Precinct 1 and called an election for Nov. 2 at which time voters will decide on 10 state constitutional amendments.

Voters will ballot in September on a single proposed amendment dealing with redistricting.

Letters To The Editor

Troy Martin, Editor
Canyon News
Canyon, Texas

Dear Troy,

Perhaps others, as I, have been waiting for the "next person" to write you regarding Margo Williams of your staff.

The last "Meandering With Margo" column (some 2-3 weeks ago) touched me so when she thanked all of the townspeople for their help and support. This young lady has a magnetic personality which has drawn so many friends close to her--my four sons think she is just about tops ('specially since two have "dunked" her in the past at Lion's Carnival and she came up "grinning!")

We will miss her weekly column and wish only the best for her successful future in the new position.

I feel sure I speak for all Canyon when I say, "Thanks, Margo, for a job well done."

Sincerely,
Doris Moore
and Sons

P.S. Your editorials are enjoyed each week by all of us, Troy.

Mr. Chet Huntley
N.B.C. News
New York, New York

Dear Mr. Huntley:

I recently heard a commentary of yours in which you claim that de Gaulle had long range foresight. You know, hindsight is much easier to come by than foresight. I expect this is really de Gaulle's long suit hindsight. His problem is this: He is vying for rank with the U.S. in determining policy. But--suppose the U.S. should hold the line against the Communists in Southeast Asia. This, after the French gave up at Dien Bien Phu, will show that the U.S. can be the champion for the free world even where France failed. This would relly leave de Gaulle out in the cold in policy determinations. Rather, de Gaulle has rather limited sight--he can see only France. If we win, de Gaulle's France looses, but de Gaulle does not see that really France will win with us.

Sincerely yours,
Alfred A. Kraus, Jr.

Japanese Girl Sends Seed For Giant Plant

Japanese sunflowers are the summer hobby of Miss Eva Frank and her Japanese pen-pal Kiyomi Yamashita.

Miss Frank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Frank, planted the flower which looks somewhat like a wild sunflower back in early March.

"The sunflower soon outgrew its hotbed and we had to put it outdoors early," comments Miss Frank. The flower, very similar to varieties of sunflower grown in this area, has buds at each leaf joint and is now over nine feet tall.

"My pen-pal and I got acquainted through a computer set up at the World's Fair in 1964," said Miss Frank who will be a freshman at Canyon High School this fall.

Miss Frank and the Japanese girl each signed up for a pen pal and their characteristics were submitted to the computer. The computer matched them as pen pals.

"We started writing to each other last June and it takes almost two months to receive a letter from Kiyomi," Miss Frank noted.

"Kiyomi writes her letters in English though she uses different phrases in her writing. She is beginning high school this summer as their school system is set up quite different than ours."

"She has even tried to teach me a few words in Japanese," Miss Frank said. "I find it quite interesting to write to her."

"We exchanged flower seeds earlier this year and I sent her some seeds of marigold, pinks, and cockscomb. In return Kiyomi sent me an assortment of sunflower seeds and 'hosenka' which turned out to be petunias," Miss Frank declared.

Miss Frank's pen-pal lives two blocks from the sea and about a block from Mount Fuji in Numazushi, Japan.

An active student, one of Miss Frank's favorite hobbies is reading literature. She also enjoys summer water skiing at Buffalo Lake and is a former member of the Panhandle Boat and Ski Club.

Miss Frank participates in Girl Scouts as a cadet in Mrs. Billy Hill's Troop 1.

NINE FOOT TALL Japanese sunflower is the summer hobby of Miss Eva Frank and her Japanese pen-pal, Kiyomi Yamashita. The two girls have corresponded for more than a year and this spring exchanged a selection of flower seeds.

ROTC Funds To WT Cadets

Two West Texas State University ROTC cadets are among the 600 college students who have been selected to receive the first two-year Reserve Officer Training Corps scholarships ever to be given by the Army.

The cadets are Raymond D. Cline of Texline and Paul E. Kelley, Jr., of Amarillo. Both will be juniors at WT this fall.

The scholarship awards will pay for tuition, textbooks and fees and will provide recipients with an allowance of $50 a month for the duration of his award. Eighty-seven college men in the Fourth U.S. Army area received the award.

Kelley is a government major. He served in the rank of platoon sergeant during the past school year and hopes to work in the intelligence branch of the Army on completion of his schooling.

Cline is now majoring in accounting and plans to be a part of the finance corps after his graduation from college. He was also platoon sergeant last year.

The cadets were nominated for the scholarship by Col. Henry L. Calder, Jr., professor of military science at WT, and college offcials. Bases of their nominations were academic and extracurricular records, performance during first two years of ROTC, scores received on the ROTC qualification test, physical qualifications and interviews by Army officers and faculty members to determine their high motivation toward careers as Army officers.

The scholarships are the first to be awarded to students in the Army ROTC program, which provides approximately 85 per cent of the new officers entering the Army each year. They were authorized by the ROTC Vitalization Act, signed by President Johnson last October 13. The act authorizes additional Army scholarships to be awarded each year until a maximum of 5,500 are in effect by the 1970-71 school year.

South Pole. On a chair rested one of a pair of old-fashioned crank telephones which the museum plans to hook up, when there is room, so that youngsters may talk to one another through them.

McClure pointed to old kitchen utensils, farm and range equipment, bridle bits and various trappings, and "about every kind of radio ever made." On one set of shelves rested Doughboy equipment of World War I.

Next stop was a room with some sort of flue and other equipment hooked up.

"We're using this as an office now," McClure explained, motioning to a desk and drawing board, Filling what was left of the room were painted bureaus; a beautifully worked tall wooden piece which had been behind a judge's bench; long, deep cabinets stocked with rifles and a machine gun; and more records.

A trip down to the basement unearthed more files and records, many kept in army surplus files. In their midst was a bell from the First Baptist Church of Canyon.

"This is the largest and best emergency shelter in Canyon. That's what all these boxes are for," explained the director as he nodded to walls lined with large boxes from the Civil Defense. "And of course, keeping all this here for defense purposes cuts down that much more on useful space."

McClure unlocked the door of a small corner closet. Inside perched a menacing variety of stuffed and mounted birds, animals and fish. Another corner revealed the same kind of strange group. Then came a third cubicle, which housed light bulbs and other lighting equipment, plus a couple of extra birds and some stacks of newspaper packages.

Into the "Shop" the tour advanced, to be confronted by what will some day be a whole rhinoceros. Boxes and tomato lugs filled with more fossils lined rows of shelves throughout the room. In an adjacent area designated "archaeology," McClure patted a group of drawers, mentioning that they contained 14,000 artifacts. Indian pottery, drums and other objects lay nearby.

A natural history tableau rested on a large table. It had been made when a museum addition seemed imminent, but there was no new space yet.

And so the expedition continued, for well over an hour, while McClure uncovered plow shears and coin collections, closets of more rifles and others with photographic equipment, cradles and silver Indian bracelets.

He called attention to a pile of branding irons. "We have 200 branding irons on display, but we actually have more than 600 here."

A balcony housed more files and publications and a case of medals and ribbons. But everywhere, throughout the building, could be found stacks of packaged newspapers.

They were piled behind the backdrop of a pioneer home scene and in every nook and cranny. As with the stuffed birds and animals, the inadequate storage force upon them is hardly ideal as far as preservation is concerned. The proposed addition will prove especially valuable in this regard, for it will enable the museum to give such items the care they need.

The newspapers comprise a particularly useful and important collection for the historical museum. Among papers for which there is a regular history through subscription, the earliest is the Vega Sentinel, dating back to 1909. Many older newspapers are included, however, such as the 1893 editions of the Canyon City Headlight.

Bringing the tour to a close, McClure headed back toward his office, adjacent the museum board room. On the walls of the board room hang portraits of great Texans, some of which will eventually be seen in the proposed Texas Hall of Government. The hall will house a collection of documents and papers of past and present Texas legislatures, forming an unusually complete history of Texas government.

In his office, McClure pointed out files of interviews made with old settlers and others knowledgeable of Panhandle history. The list is cross-filed to put any subject within research of student or visitor. Other files list museum donors, gifts and a complete inventory of museum possessions.

The museum is $163,000 short of being able to start construction of the first portion of a proposed $800,000 addition.

"You know, if we had $100,000 we could microfilm all those newspapers, and throw them all away," he said. "Think of the space that would save! But then, if we had $100,000, we'd be using it on our building fund, so the people could see what they have here, as they should."

Forty-four bicycles were taped with reflector tape by Happy Jaycee-ettes in their Lite-a-Bike Project July 2, reported committee chairman La-Venna Jackson.

Members assisting in the project were Joy Freemon, Travene Vermeire, Nell Sims, Jimmy Middleton and Della Venhause.

Go, Mom!

COMPETITION was high as Girls' Softball All-Stars played their moms Monday. Game was temporarily interrupted after the third inning when the moms turned the pitcher's mound into a picnic area and sat down for a Coke break. When the game finally ended, the score was All-Stars 21, Moms 12.

For the third time Tuesday night, the board hired a basketball coach. Previously two have been hired and subsequently have resigned.

This time the board hired Thomas L. Buchanan of Shallowater. As boys' basketball coach there last school term, Buchanan posted 30 wins and seven loses.

He received B.S. and Master of Education degrees from Eastern New Mexico University at Portales. He coached and taught social studies at Southland three years before moving to Shallowater.

Resignation of F.G. Crofford, who had been hired as basketball coach last month, was accepted Tuesday night. Resignations of three others, including Miss Harriet Moore, Mrs. Pat Patton and Mrs. Barbara Rolando, also were accepted.

The board voted to hire an even dozen other faculty members.

These include Mrs. Robert Hickman, Miss Virginia Lee Collins, Harold Gene Andrews, Donald E. Wright, Mrs. Barbara Graham, Bobby Byrd, Wayne Phenister, Swayne McCauley, Mrs. Judith McLarty, Mrs. Elizabeth Cummins, Jerry Bristo and Wayne Turley.

First National Bank again was chosen as the official depository for Canyon Independent School District.

Laycock told the board that Texas Education Agency has approved a special education unit for Canyon as soon as a teacher can be obtained. The unit will be for children with minimal brain damage. Laycock said there are nine possible students in the community for such a unit.

The board changed policy for married student. Under new regulations, students who marry during the school term must withdraw from school for the remainder of the school year.

Laycock reported that insurance adjustors allowed $10,723.41 for hail and storm damage to school buildings. Allowance for damage to busses was $1,193.14.

Visiting in Amarillo early last week was Mrs. Myrtle Wester. She visited with her son's family and went to her doctors.

EAGLE SCOUT GENE MYERS is joined by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Johnson, following Monday night Troop 66 Court of Honor ceremonies at which Myers received his advancement in rank. Eagle Award is the highest position which may be achieved by a member of the Boy Scouts of America.

Myers Raised To Eagle Scout

Gene Myers, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Johnson, was presented the Eagle Award in Boy Scout Troop 66 Court of Honor Monday at the First Christian Church.

Myers has been a Boy Scout for two and a half years and holds 23 merit badges. He has served the troop actively as assistant patrol leader, patrol leader, and now senior patrol leader.

He has attended summer camp three years, participated in the spring ski trip and Possum Kingdom trip two years, and is a veteran of the Pecos Wilderness Trip unique to Troop 66.

Myers was selected for the Order of the Arrow, national honorary campers group, in June of 1964, possibly the youngest member of Troop 66 ever to receive such an honor, according to Eagle Scout Bill Walker, who presented the Eagle Award.

Master of Ceremonies for the event was Eagle Scout Andy Moreland. The program was begun with a troop processional and flag ceremony, attended by a color guard composed of Jim McBroom and Gene Morrison.

Scoutmaster LeeRoy Moreland presented a total of 98 merit badges in 24 categories. Special awards were given to Al Carlton, Life Scout, who was chosen by the other Scouts as Honor Camper during the summer camp, and to Neal Knighton and John Upshaw, who kept the most orderly tent during camp.

Advancement was made in all ranks, with Eagle Scouts who were former members of Troop 66 making the advancement presentations.

Richard Leonard received the Tenderfoot Award from Kenny Crossland. Second Class Awards were presented to Keith Zook and Ernest Williams by Bill Crossland. Larry Hendrickson and David Gidden accepted First Class Awards from Mike Faulk.

Five troop members received the Star Award from Pat Jarrett. They were Richard Fulton, Steven Daugherty, Jamie Martin, Ben Peckenpaugh and Mike Lovelady. Life Awards were presented by Ronnie Wooten to Mike Johnson, Stanley Ebeling and Steven Russell.

Final award of the evening was the presentation of the Eagle Award to Myers by Bill Walker. Myers' parents were asked to join him after he had repeated his oath, and Mrs. Johnson pinned the eagle insignia on his pocket. He then presented his mother with a corsage.

Benediction was led by Mark Olson.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Louise Russell provided decorations, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Johnson in Fellowship Hall immediately following the program.

Eagle Scout Rises, Byrd To Astronauts

BY LINDA LOVE

From the ice of Antarctica to the sunshine of California is a long road in itself.

But it is only part of the trail which led Joe Hill of Canyon from orderly to Admiral Byrd on his South Pole expedition to manager of a space laboratory responsible for equipment used by United States astronauts.

Hill leaned back and gazed out at the afternoon sun from the back porch of his father's home in Canyon. "It all started here, of course. I was selected for the expedition because I was an Eagle Scout. I was nineteen then.

"And I'm still active in scout work. I'm chairman of the Specialty Explorer Post Committee, a scientific post that our corporation sponsors there in Torrence (California.) It's an aerospace scout post, and we take the top junior and senior "A" and "B" students in science in two high schools of the area. We meet with them, let them listen and talk to experts, and expose them to the aerospace field in general."

It was as a high school boy that Hill became interested in the Byrd expeditions. In 1929 the Admiral delivered a lecture in Amarillo concerning his first trip to the South Pole.

"I was a Scout then and very 'gung ho,' so I became very excited about the whole idea," Hill recalled. "Seven of us had become Eagle Scouts at once, in Troop 23. It was quite a troop, and our scoutmaster was C.W. West. The other six Eagles were Lewis Shirley, Winston Savage, Ernest Cabe, Earl Cobb, Russell Bishop and Elmer Laxon."

In his lecture Byrd explained that because of the depression years he had no idea when he would return to the antarctic continent, but that he did plan to go back. This prompted Hill to send him a letter asking that he be considered for the expedition. Byrd answered him, saying he would put his letter on file.

"I graduated from high school and went on to the University of Texas, where I began studying mechanical engineering--and making awful grades! I'd almost forgotten about Admiral Byrd and my letter. Then, in the summer of 1933, after my sophomore year at college, I received word from the personnel chief of the second expedition requesting that I go to Boston for an interview.

"Well, I took a job chauffeuring the car of the college speech department head from here to Boston, where he lived. I got up there, had my interview, and didn't come back."

The expedition began that year and returned in 1935. On the trips down and back Hill served as Byrd's orderly. While at the Pole he worked as a mechanic and tractor driver and was among the men who went to get the admiral when he was alone for weeks on the ice.

"I was well prepared for the whole experience by my life in Canyon. My Scout training has always been valuable to me, of course, and I'd also learned a lot of practical mechanics working around our place at home. And I had my two years of university schooling."

It was hard to be prepared for the weather, however. "About the only thing you can say about the weather down there is that it's predictable--miserable all the time."

Hill praised Admiral Byrd as a "tremendous leader. He was very businesslike and precise in his planning, and I think it was due to this that he didn't lose a single man. But he was a great human being, too, with an excellent sense of humor.

"Very understanding, while maintaining strict discipline through his leadership. We had very few morale problems, and with 56 men cooped up together for 14 months, that's quite a feat."

When the 14 months were ended, they were picked up by the ships that had taken them down. One was a steamer, but the other was the "Bear of Oakland," one of the last sailing vessels.

"It was a barkantine," explained Hill, "and belonged to the Coast Guard. I think that was one of my greatest experiences of the whole trip, being a regular seaman for awhile on the sailing ship. Its principal use to us was as an ice breaker, but fortunately we didn't need that function."

The expedition returned by way of New Zealand and Easter Island to New York, where it was received by President Roosevelt. Then it proceeded to Boston Navy Yard and the crew disbanded.

Hill brought back a variety of momentos, and much of it was exhibited for a time in the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. He kept as his own dog Neka, the one that had served him in Antarctica, and when the dog died it was stuffed and placed in the museum, where it is still in storage.

Hill returned to the University of Texas, where he completed his engineering studies. "I got married, and that made a big difference," he laughed. "My grades came up considerably."

The newly-graduated engineer began work on aircraft. He was in California from 1939 to 1949 with Douglas Aircraft, where he worked with air conditioning of airplanes. During the war they concentrated on DC-54's and after the war on DC-6's.

The family moved to Columbus, Ohio, in 1949, where they remained almost 14 years before returning to California. They have been in Torrence for three years now, and he is manager of the space laboratory for Garrett Corporation, a division of Signal Oil Co.

The laboratory's function is to test all spacecraft equipment to the limits of the environment in which the craft will be involved.

One of the more recent jobs of the laboratory included testing the umbilical cord used by Astronaut Edward White during his "walk in space." The test was finished exactly a week before the flight, said Hill, due to the late date at which the order was given.

Hill is married to the former Wilma Jo Jones of Hereford. They have three children. The eldest son, Joe A. Hill, is married and studying medicine at the University of Florida in Miami. A daughter, Mrs. Frederick C. Hoster, lives in Oxford, Ohio. Their 11-year-old son, James Bruce, lives at home.

"Joe was in the Boy Scouts and worked up through Life rank. We're hoping Bruce will be able to join, too. It's wonderful experience and training for a boy--something that will serve him all his life," commented Hill.

Miss Gruhlkey, Pond United In Evening Ceremony

A double ring ceremony united Miss Linda Roberta Gruhlkey and Clement Gladden Pond, Jr., at 6 p.m. Saturday, July 17, in Adrian Methodist Church of Adrian.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Gruhlkey of Adrian. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Gladden Pond of Canyon.

Rev. B.J. Foster, minister of Adrian Methodist Church, performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Ted Boydstun of Adrian played traditional wedding selections on the organ, and Ted Hale of Adrian sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Always," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The sanctuary was decorated by candelabra with lighted tapers and featured an arch of gladioli and greenery.

Maid of honor was Miss Martha Gruhlkey of Adrian, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Billie Gruhlkey of Amarillo and Miss Doriss June Horton of Adrian. They wore identical formal gowns of pale yellow crepe fashioned with an empire silhouette and carried nosegays of yellow rosebuds. Flower girl, Miss Terry Manley of Adrian, wore a dress similar to that of the bridesmaids and a wristlet of yellow roses.

Best man was Jerry Pat Pond, of Canyon, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Hubert D. Green of San Antonio and Charles K. Vaughan of Pampa.

Candlelighters were Miss Gale Gruhlkey and Dale Gruhlkey, both cousins of the bride from Adrian. Serving as ushers were Richard Allen Gruhlkey of Adrian, brother of the bride, and Ivan B. Pond of Canyon, brother of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full-length gown of peau de soie with a sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and modified bell skirt with reembroidered English lace on the three-quarter length sleeves. The watteau back fell into a chapel train of English lace edged with a band of peau de soie. The veil of French illusion was attached to a miniature crown of pearls, lace and crystal droplets. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Gruhlkey wore a dress of pink silk organza with a lace jacket, and pink and white accessories. The groom's mother wore a blue lace dress with blue hat and white peau de soie accessories. Both wore corsages of white roses.

Following the wedding a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Mrs. John Horton and Mrs. Rex Manley registered the wedding and reception guests. Mrs. G. G. Gruhlkey served the cake, while Mrs. Carroll Gruhlkey served punch. Centerpiece of the refreshment table was a tall oil derrick resting on a styrafoam base and entwined with orange blossoms. Yellow roses decorated the base.

For the wedding trip to San Francisco and Las Vegas, Nevada, the bride chose a three-piece black and white silk suit, a black hat trimmed in white, and matching accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow roses from her bridal bouquet.

After August 2, the couple will be at home in Amarillo.

The bride attended West Texas State University and is now employed with Southwestern Public Service Company in Amarillo.

The groom was graduated from West Texas State University, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha order. He is now employed with the Texas Employment Commission in Amarillo.

STIRRING UP a batch of Chocolate Oatmeal Cookies for her family is Mrs. Donald Day, active homemaker, and cook of the week. Mrs. Day shares her families favorite recipe with our readers this week.

Homemaker Kept Busy By Baseball, Scouting

Easily made cookies are shared with readers by our homemaker of the week, Mrs. Donald Day.

Known as Wynona to her acquaintances, Mrs. Day is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Craghead of Amarillo. She attended Amarillo schools and is presently a junior at West Texas State, majoring in English.

Wynona has two younger sisters, Carol, Mrs. Bill Pipes, attends Texas Tech in Lubbock, and Janice, who still lives at home.

Don is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren M. Day of Springfield, Missouri, and has two younger brothers, Jerry and Gary, both of Springfield.

Don has been a resident of Canyon some nine years, and is currently employed as a civil engineer for the Texas Highway Department.

Sons, David, age 12, and Douglas, age 9, both claim a big interest in Scouting and baseball.

David is a member of the Braves, Little League majors team, and is a member of the cuckoo patrol, Troop 31. He will enter seventh grade in September.

Douglas, who will be in fourth grade in September is a member of Pack 97, den 1 in Cub Scouts, and plays for Pee Wee league Astros.

Not to be forgotten is daughter Jill, age 5, who will begin kindergarten in fall. She picks playing dress-up and cooking as her favorites, though Mrs. Day smilingly adds, "she likes to pester the boys".

Wynona is den mother of Douglas' Cub den, and Don serves the pack as committeeman and assistant cubmaster.

And then, baseball, again. Wynona comments, "We go to some six games a week, what with David, Doug and Don all on teams. Don is coach for the Pee Wee Astros' and plays for Bellah's in men's softball league."

The Days are members of the Primitive Baptist church, and attend services in Hub and in Littlefield. "Don preaches for the services at Hub, which is near Friona, and sometimes in Littlefield", Wynona notes.

And our homemaker's hobbies?--"Besides raising a family, going to school and being a den mother, I also tend a garden," she says.

"My garden is really going great guns--I've got nasturtiums, calla lilies, lettuce, radishes, and raspberries. My grandfather, who lives in Mission, sent me 12 plants, and we've got berries on eleven of the twelve. Oh, yes, we've also got tomatoes.

"I also like to cook, though, like everyone else, I just hate to clean up afterwards," she adds.

"Sewing is also one of my favorites. I received a sewing machine for Christmas last year, and have made some clothes for the children. I even tackled a shirt for Don, and I'll never make another one!"

"I especially like the recipe for "Choc'late Oatmeal Cookies" for there is no baking, and they are ready quickly", closes our homemaker.

CHOC'LATE OATMEAL COOKIES:

2 cups sugar
3 tsp. cocoa

KATHY HUFNAGLE is participating in Canyon High School's summer experience program for home economics students. Kathy enjoys horseback riding as a hobby and is also a talented seamstress, according to home economics instructor Mrs. Clara Long.

Summer Experiences Gain School Credits

Summer Experience is a means of furthering class work in home economics during the summer months.

Work is planned before the spring semester is over and approved by the home economics teacher, Mrs. Clara Long, and the student's mother.

Teacher and mother oversee the summer projects with Mrs. Long visiting students as often as necessary to see that a student keeps good records and is doing an adequate job in the project.

Canyon High School, as schools everywhere, allow 1/2 credit for the summer experience after written work is handed in and evaluated. A student may earn only two 1/2 credits with summer experiences.

"Most students do them at the end of the first year of home economics and at the end of the second year," said Mrs. Long.

Students may work in the fields of personal improvement, clothing, foods, child development, home management, and home improvement according to Mrs. Long.

"Most students work in two or three areas and must do as much as they would do in a semester of classwork," said Mrs. Long.

"Foods and clothing are popular work areas and home management runs a close second," Mrs. Long commented.

"Students may call the teacher for further help when they need it," stated the home economics teacher.

"I ran an evaluation at the close of last summer on how the mothers evaluated their daughters home experience projects. All of the mothers thought the experience to be worthwhile and gave these reason, helped to keep up interest in activities, time for creativity, and all said it helped the family."

"The student usually was called a better family member as she was busy and getting credit too," said Mrs. Long.

"Management is the most valuable experience gained from these projects," stated Mrs. Long. "I mean management of time, energy and money. We find that students like this least but these are the things they will need to keep their activities organized whatever they do after high school."

Many of the girls taking the summer course are working on self improvement by getting more exercise such as horseback riding, swimming, walking or doing physical exercises on schedule according to Mrs. Long.

"I am amazed how well the students carry on their many duties on schedule," said Mrs. Long commenting on the number of students who are managing their family household while their mothers are away or working.

"Some students try their hands at new skills," says Mrs. Long. Among those mentioned were leather tooling, making decals for wall decoration, refinishing furniture, and making bedspreads and curtains.

Some of the students are caring for small children as a part of their summer program. "They learn a great deal about children and themselves and this should help them in understanding people of all ages," commented Mrs. Long.

"When they take foods as their project they may include buying groceries to fit with the planned meals as well as counting the food dollars," said Mrs. Long. Several students are canning, freezing and preserving different foods.

Clothing areas may include wardrobe planning, consumer education, and managing the clothing dollar as well as care of the clothing and it's construction according to Mrs. Long.

Participating in home experiences this summer are Lynda Allen, Sharon Allen, Bobbie Choate, Donna Crisp, Vicki Daniel, Sandy Ellis, Kay Fisher, Toni Green, Pam Haines, Linda Hand, Jackie Hedges, Sheryl Hood, Kathy Hufnagle.

Also Brenda Keeling, Kathy Lindsey, Nancy Meyer, Wanda Owen, Betty Pryor, Sheree Quisenberry, Pam Sternenberg, Pam Stevens, Nancy Stoval, Linda Taylor, Lorraine Taylor, Glenda Thresher, Karen Thompson, Alice Wilson, Juanita Worsham, and Diana Williams.

Summer experiences are due in the home economics department on July 31 according to Mrs. Long.

Mrs. Myrtle Wester Still Active At 84

BY LORENA MILLER

Mrs. Myrtle Wester, 84, is a long-time resident of Canyon and has watched the town grow to its present size since first arriving in Randall County in 1926.

Mrs. Wester is proud of the flowers in her yard which she keeps spaded and hoed all by herself.

"I feel like as long as you are active your life is worthwhile," comments Mrs. Wester. "Nearly every day I spend a couple of hours working in the yard."

"I walk downtown a lot of times when I have a job to do and can't find a ride," says the gray-haired widow.

Born June 19, 1881 in Missouri, Mrs. Wester was the eldest daughter of Dr. Andrew Jackson Baker and his wife, Rachel.

"Mom and dad had each been married previously and I had six half brothers and sisters," she said. She also had two full sisters and a brother, Andy Baker, now deceased.

Mrs. Wester's sisters are Clara Coffman of Springfield, Missouri and Grace Courtney of Visalia, California.

"My husband and I first came to Texas in 1920 and settled at Plainview, then in 1926 we moved to Canyon where we farmed west of town for about three years," said Mrs. Wester.

Mrs. Wester and the late William I. Wester had four children including three sons, Iva of Carlsbad, New Mexico, Randall of Amarillo, and Jack now deceased. Their daughter, Mrs. Louise Clark, lives in Gardenia, California.

"I've spent a couple of winters with Louise," said Mrs. Wester. "Travelling to California by jet plane and I sure did enjoy it."

"The ride by jet plane was a lot different from the horse and buggy days of my youth though," she laughingly commented.

"Back when I was young things were a lot different. We went from place to place using the horse and buggy, and entertainment consisted mostly of singings and home parties," relates Mrs. Wester.

"My father was a doctor. We always had a lot of company and I played the organ for them," she said. "But arthritis hampers my playing now."

A member of the Social Pioneers Club, Mrs. Wester recalls when the club had a string band and she was the organist. A fellow member once related "she may miss a few notes but never misses the timing."

"I took organ lessons in my youth until the teacher said she couldn't teach me further. I also learned to second on the violin and guitar some," commented Mrs. Wester.

When she had learned the organ the teacher asked that she take dancing lessons "but dancing was out of the question with my folks in those days" she said.

"Nowadays you see the kids dancing and having a big time... but it is quite different. They have the opporutnity to get an education and so many more entertainments that we had," said Mrs. Wester.

"There has been a lot of progress in the growth of Canyon too," Mrs. Wester commented. "When we first came houses were centered around the square, around the college and around the high school. Now progress has joined the three together."

Active in clubwork as well as homelife, Mrs. Wester is a member of the Rebekah Lodge, Social Pioneers, Canyon Mother-In-Laws Club, the First Baptist Church, King's Daughter's Sunday School Class, and the Dorothy Latham Circle.

Hoeing her flower bed is Mrs. Myrtle Wester, a resident of Canyon since 1926. Active in civic and social affairs at the age of 84 Mrs. Wester lauds Canyon and youth for the progress made during her life span.

Prizes to be awarded for the second contest will be $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third. All entries must be color and become the property of the Chamber of Commerce.

Focal point for the current contest which ends September 15 will be scenic area spots such as Palo Duro Canyon, Buffalo Lake, Camp Don Harrington and others according to Blake.

"It is not necessary that the picture be taken during the contest but may be one that has been taken previously," said Blake.

Complete contest rules are available from Canyon Drug.

SWEET PICNIC DESSERT. Give your picnic an upbeat ending—it's fun to linger over drinks and sweets—candy-crisp Lace Cookies and ice-cold Pepsi-Cola!

french lace cookies

1 cup flour
1 cup finely chopped walnuts
½ cup Karo All Purpose syrup
½ cup Parkay Margarine
½ cup granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Blend flour and walnuts. Bring Karo, margarine and sugar to a boil in small saucepan, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, add vanilla, gradually stir into flour and nuts. Drop batter, by level teaspoons, about 3 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 12 minutes, in a moderate oven (325°F). Remove from oven, cool 5 minutes, remove from baking sheet. Makes about 4 dozen cookies.

FRUITED PUNCH. Here's a knockout punch to serve at a picnic—looks and tastes as elegant as any party punch bowl, but so simple you can tote it with ease!

7-Up picnic punch

1 package (10 oz.) Libby's Frozen Strawberries
6 bottles (7 oz. each) 7-Up, well chilled

Pack Libby's frozen berries next to 7-Up in an insulated bag, keep chilled. Don't forget openers and plastic spoons! To serve, divide the partly thawed fruit into 6 drink cups, fill with 7-Up. Good when fruit is still frozen, just as good when fruit is thawed, but still cold! Serve with spoons.

PICNIC PARTY CHICKEN. Serve this oven-fried chicken cold or hot; it keeps very well for toting, too. Use favorite chicken parts, or whole chicken, cut up.

chicken crunch for a crowd

6 pounds chicken parts or 3 frying chickens
1 can Campbell's Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
3 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
3 cups Kellogg's Corn Flakes, crushed
1½ teaspoons poultry seasoning
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup melted butter

Have chicken cut into easy-to-handle pieces. Blend soup, milk, onion and parsley. Coat chicken with this mixture, roll in corn flakes mixed with seasoning and salt. Arrange on foil-covered baking sheet, drizzle with butter, bake in moderately hot oven (400°F) ¾ to 1 hour, until chicken is cooked through. Serve hot or cold. Makes 12 servings.

COOL CASSEROLE. Here's a main course chicken surprise salad that you jell in a casserole, serve without fuss. Take it to the picnic in an insulated bag, with canned "ice" to keep it cold. Pack salad greens, radishes, scallions and carrot stick nibbles in a plastic bag, with the casserole. Coolest picnic you ever ate!

cold chicken salad casserole

2 envelopes Knox Unflavored Gelatine
2 cups cold chicken broth
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1½ cups Kraft Mayonnaise
3 cups diced, cooked chicken
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper

Sprinkle gelatine on broth to soften, stir over medium heat until gelatine dissolves. Remove from heat. Add lemon juice and mayonnaise. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Fold in remaining ingredients, add salt and white pepper to taste. Turn into 1½ quart casserole, chill until firm.

LUAU SPECIAL. You can give any picnic a luau look. SPAM and pineapple skewers, basted with an oriental sauce and broiled to crispness, are good hot or cold!

hawaiian skewers

2 cans (12 oz. each) SPAM
1 can (1 lb. 4 oz.) pineapple chunks
⅓ cup honey
½ cup soy sauce
½ cup vinegar
¼ teaspoon powdered ginger

Cut each SPAM loaf into cubes roughly the size of the pineapple chunks. Thread skewers alternately with SPAM cubes and pineapple chunks. Combine remaining ingredients, brush skewers, broil until lightly browned, brushing often. Serves 6-8.

COOL DESSERT. Top off a picnic meal with a creamy cheese pie that never sees the oven. You "bake" it in the refrigerator, serve it chilled.

no-bake cheese pie

CRUST
2 cups Kellogg's Corn Flakes (1½ cups crushed)
½ cup sugar
½ cup Parkay Margarine
1 teaspoon hot water

FILLING
1 envelope Knox Unflavored Gelatine
½ cup milk
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon vanilla
Grated rind of ½ lemon
1 pound cream cottage cheese

Combine crust ingredients, press against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate, chill well. Sprinkle gelatine on milk to soften, add sugar, stir over low heat to dissolve gelatine. Cool until syrupy. Beat in remaining ingredients, pour into prepared crust, chill until set.
